KNOXVILLE HIGH SCHOOL
VOICE
SENIOR CLASS 1928
V. CREEKMORE

Foreword

IN PRESENTING this volume of the VOICE, it has been our constant aim to reflect the varied and diverse aspects of high school life. The many shortcomings of the book are clear to us, and our only apology is that we have done our best. If there is praise to offer, we ask that it be given to those who have helped to make the book what it is. If there is blame, we ask that you remember the many difficulties with which our progress has been beset.

Perhaps there is something herein that will give offence to someone. If so, we assure you that it was far from our intentions that it should be so, and we beg your forbearance for our fault.

We present, herewith, this, the thirtieth edition of the VOICE, to the students and patrons of Knoxville High School.

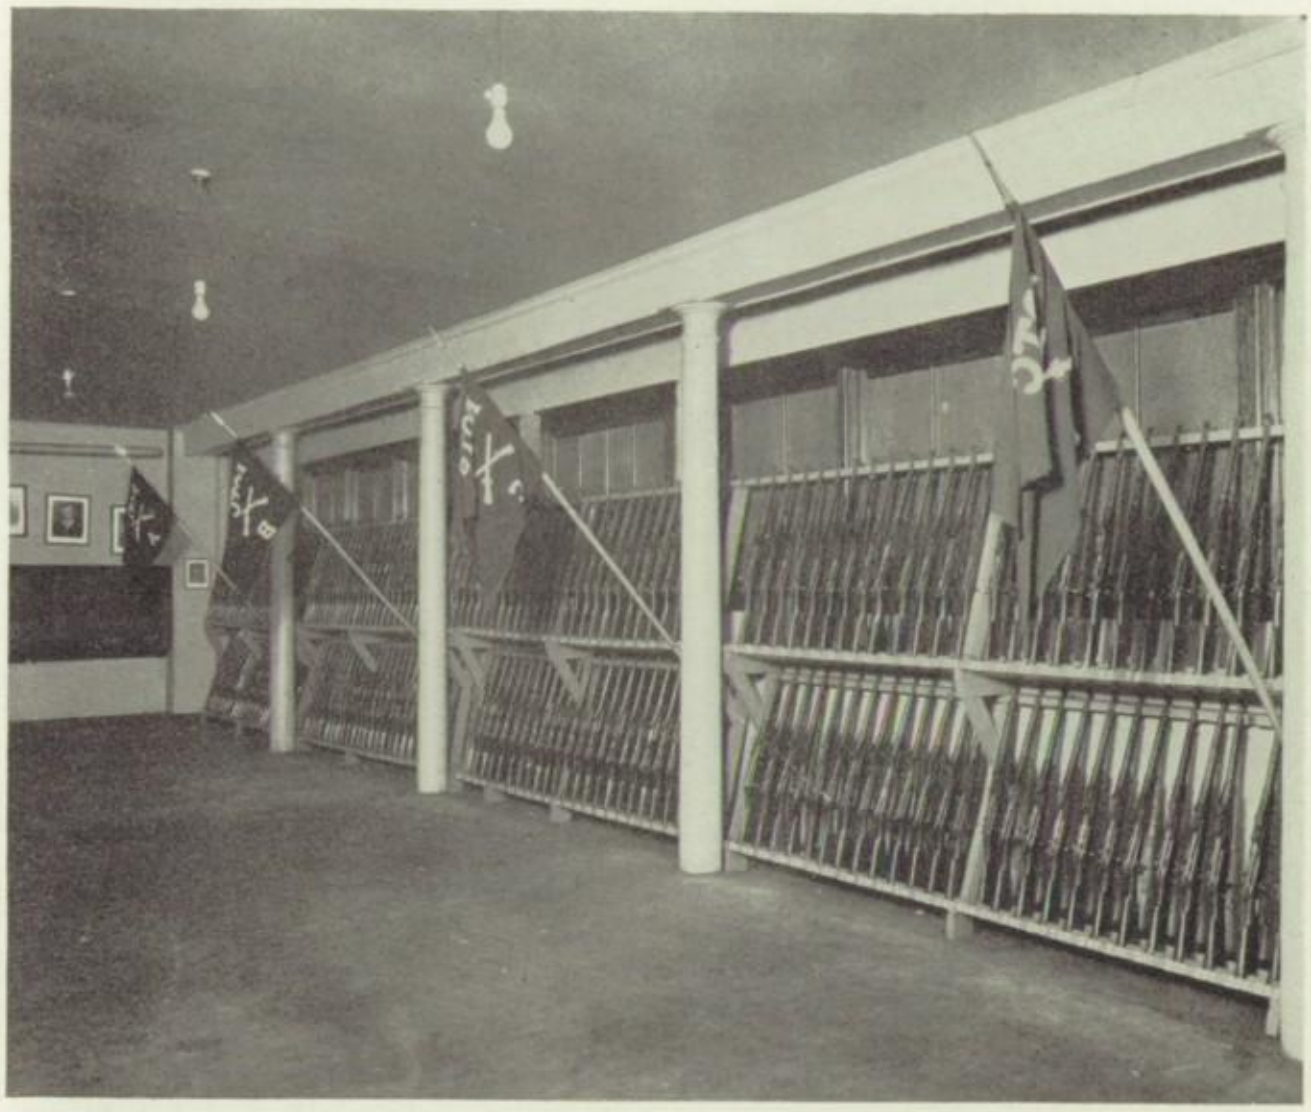
UPPER

Thanksgiving service in Chapel. No one seeing this picture can doubt the sincere generosity of High School students.

LOWER

A typical lunch room scene. Knoxville High boasts one of the finest high school cafeterias in the South. It serves about eighteen hundred students and sixty teachers each day.



The Armory

The above picture affords a view of a small portion of the armory, where one may see row after row of shining barrels of our country's model rifles. A thousand hands work untiringly to polish the blue muzzles of these guns each day. No speck of dirt may be found here. The armory is always as clean and orderly as a well kept dining room.

Senior Class History

It has been just three years since we, the Class of '28, first passed through the massive doorways and into the awe inspiring halls of Knoxville High School. For a few days we wandered about feeling like pygmies in a giant's castle inhabited by those mighty upperclassmen. However, we soon found them to be kindly creatures and with their aid we ourselves grew taller and took up our abode with them.

They called us Freshmen, but in reality we were Sophomores, being the first class to enter Knoxville High School as such. Since we were so capable and so excelled all former Sophomore classes, it was decided that we should organize and elect officers as the Junior and Senior classes had done. Although this helped us to feel "bigger", we were not able to engage in any special activity that year.

How proud we were when we again entered school in the fall of '26 as Juniors, but alas! the Junior Class of the preceding year had stepped up too, and again we must contend with those dignified Seniors. But, like the others, they soon came down to earth, and we were consoled by the fact that we, too, were upperclassmen. In the early part of the year the class was organized with four officers and three directors, with Mr. Harry C. Watkin and Miss Anne Kent as faculty advisors. Though our number had diminished the class ties grew stronger. On January 28, 1927, we successfully presented, as our main activity, a class play, "The Whole Town's Talking." As Juniors we gave our loyal support to all the new institutions in High School. Our pennies swelled the bank deposits, and our representatives helped to inaugurate the Student Council.

Though some of our number, caught in the snares of Latin and Algebra, had fallen by the wayside, we entered in the fall of '27 with a class of four hundred and thirty. At last we had reached that coveted place, "Seniordom", and it was our turn to be dignified, but, as is so characteristic of all High School students, we never lost that K. H. S. spirit of unselfishness and cooperation. We entered our Senior year with eager hands and willing hearts and through it all did our best to be noble examples to those behind us and worthy successors of the classes gone on before.

Our organization as a Senior Class was completed promptly, with Eulyth Pickell, President; Betty Lynn Hoskins, Vice-President; Katherine Bolt, Secretary; Robert Clements, Treasurer; and Juanita Maxey, Mary Will Webb, William Rule, Florence Groves and Jessie Dempster, Directors. With these student representatives and with C. L. Northcutt and Miss Evelyn Hazen our capable faculty advisors, we embarked upon our glorious career. The first function of the directors was to select the class colors, and December 8 was celebrated as Senior Day with the wearing of the "Green and Gold." December 10, which marked the arrival of the class rings, was another memorable day in our history.

The first activity of the class was the Senior vaudeville, "'28 Joyland", which proved a glowing success, not only filling us with enthusiasm but also filling our empty treasury with much needed funds. From time to time we cooperated with the various organizations of the school in their activities, such as the Student Council Circus and the publication of the Honor Society Handbook, and took our places as leaders everywhere. Among our number are outstanding athletes, capable executives, skilled journalists, accomplished musicians and dramatists, as well as intellectual students.

The year has sped by on the wings of work and pleasure and the day of our graduation is at hand. It is with fond regrets that we, the Class of '28, pass for the last time across the threshold of dear old K. H. S., passing from our high school life into the broader world beyond, which calls from every side and which receives with uplifting hands the ambitious, idealistic, and trained youth of our ranks.

Senior Class Prophecy

Owing to the many inferior imitations of my prophecies now flooding the market, I write these few introductory words to prove that this is the genuine article. I, the great prophetess, do hereby foretell and prophesy the following prophecies. To prove that I am the greatest of all living prophetesses, I shall tell you things which even your best friend could not know about you. For instance:

Bob Clements—will be the greatest movie cameraman in the world.
William Moses—world renowned editor.
Richard Gray—a great comedian.
J. R. Booth—Mayor of the city of Kalamazoo.
Helen Burchfield—a well known New York expression teacher.
George Midget—will break the record for endurance speaker.
Sara Bean—will become a leading club woman.
William Parker—a stalwart army officer.
Mary Sammons—will bring fame to us as a great poetess.
Oscar Tate—will be a sedate senator.
Ralph Lyndon—will make a good husband for some lazy girl.
Alice Lynn—will become famous as a short story writer.
Bonnie Jo DeLozier—as a great illustrator and another rival of Edna St. Vincent Millay in the realm of poetry.
Fred DeMarcus—will soon be world famous as a Dobbs' hat model.
Lynn Hayes—will no doubt be a fashionable divorcee.
James Lee Clark—a business manager of New York's biggest Theatre Ticket Agency.
Alda Hawk, Mary Moses, and Lucille Francis—Metropolitan Opera stars following in the footsteps of Marion Talley, Mary Lewis, and Grace Moore.
Ruby Miller—one of the greatest lyric poets and song writers of the twentieth century.
Jack Walker—a famous journalist or druggist.
Mildred Reid—renouned pianist, probably accompanist to John McCormack or the like.
John Meriwether—an insect killer and research scientist.
Charles Kohlhase—football mentor in the Big Ten.
Isabelle Marshall—president of Old Maid's Federation.
Eugene Mynatt—a future President's campaign manager.
Robbie Tedford—famous reader and elocution teacher.
Helena Lackey—Helen Wills' successor.
Dorothy Wyman—the living advertisement for Wrigley's chewing gum.
Dorothy Blanc—rival of Irving Berlin for first honors as song writer.
Anne Brakebill—a charming hostess.
Jack Pickell—some "Big Business."
Mary Will Webb—an old maid school teacher.
Barbara Lou Carden—a member of Mr. Ziegfeld's famous chorus.
Herbert Brackett—a great orator.
Charles Ware—an army colonel.
William Wilson and Bill Byess—Al G. Field's end men.
William McDonald—the irresistible model for Arrow Collars.
Dick Williams—a great preacher.
Bill Bonham—the prosperous owner of Bonham's Minstrel, Inc.
Drexel Householder—a rival of the successors to Thomas A. Edison.
William Lea—editor of "Saturday Evening Post."
Katherine Bolt—a famous divorce lawyer.
James Ogden—the Navy's pride.
Homer Cox—a motorcycle cop, and in his leisure hours the sheik of the village.
Fred Keith—an eminent professor of Latin.
Harry Smalley—a demonstrator of Sleep Easy Mattresses.
Betty Lynn Hoskins—will run for governor of Tennessee.
Ina Briscoe—will teach old maids how to blush effectively.
William Caldwell—will give up his musical career to become a piano tuner.
Charles Lowman—will take up civil engineering.
Charles Dooley—real estate man.
H. E. Christenberry—model for "freshman skull" caps.

The above is a sample of the wonderful work of the Seeress. Further information concerning your business, domestic and love affairs may be obtained by seeing me. Come early and avoid the rush. Ask for the genuine; accept no substitute. Be sure to see the Seeress, for her prophecies are genuine and Wright.

Senior Class Play

THE ADMIRABLE CRICHTON

"The Admirable Crichton", a play in four acts by J. M. Barrie, was prescnted by the Senior Class at the Lyric Theatre, May 28th and 29th. In this play Barrie gives us three things: first, a delightful comedy; second, an unforgettable character, Crichton; third, an insight into the unstableness of the English aristocracy of the time.

The story opens with a party at the house of Lord Loam, an unemployed, aristocratic old mossback. At this party the servants are all placed on an equality with the lords and ladies, to which arrangement, Crichton, the ideal servant, does not agree. His motto is that "Nature will determine the masters in any set of circumstances and that the duty of the rest is to serve." Ernest is an egoist of the third degree who delights in making philosophical wise cracks which he thinks are very clever.

The family takes a yachting trip and is shipwrecked on a deserted island. Everyone but Crichton is rendered utterly helpless in being placed upon his own resources. Lady Mary, the leading feminine role, who is a very cold, superior and authoritative young lady, begs her father to assert himself, but he can do nothing.

After a year of island life Crichton is at the head of an establishment and all the rest are under him. Mary has become a good-natured, athletic young girl entirely different from her former type. Ernest has ceased his wise cracking and Lord Loam has his daily jobs to perform. While waiting on the table for Crichton, Lady Mary manages to break through the barriers of servility enough to speak to him. The end of it is that both declare their love for each other and are about to call for Trehern to arrange a marriage when a rescue comes.

When at home again Crichton is once more the spirit of humbleness and servility, making no mention of the matter of the island. The utter impossibility of a marriage between servant and mistress now becomes apparent. Lady Mary has to marry the manless Lord Brocklehurst, a sissy, apronstrings fellow, and the admirable Crichton lived up to his motto.

Other characters who play a leading role in the play are: Reverend Trehern, a thick skulled, simple sort of fellow; Tweny, a good-natured little servant girl, and the Ladies Agatha and Catherine, sisters of Mary.

Twenty-Eight Joyland

Joyland '28 was presented Friday afternoon and night, December 16th. The performance consisted of ten acts, the first of which was the entertaining three, Jo Ruth Perry, Ruth Ferrell and William Flenniken.

The Vaudeville moved swiftly and joyously through the Syncopatin' Saps, Barbara Lou Carden, Marguerite Harris and Dorothy Blanc; and through The Tumblers, Rodney Napier, Wiley Thomas and Paul Houser. Next came the Grand Opera act, SMOKE, in which Alda Hauk, Harold Faulkner and William Rule took the leading parts, ably assisted by the chorus. The audience was much amused by the frantic haste to escape from the burning building.

Following "Smoke" appeared the picturesque Spanish dancers, Dorothy Wyman, and Alfred Wilson. Variety, a novelty act put on by Mary Moses and Eulyth Pickell, assisted by a dancing chorus, was enjoyed very much.

Next followed living pictures made by Burton Simcox, Willie Graham Lane, Louise Erwin and Elizabeth Johnson as leading models. This was followed by "Down on the Levee", a negro act staged by Chas. Lobetti, Bill Bonham, Sam Adkins, Bill Poe, Dutch Waller and Archie Monroe.

The last two acts consisted of "Smoky Mountain Serenaders" and "The Blue and White Chorus."

Operetta

"LELAWALA"

"LELAWALA" is based upon the beautiful Legend of Niagara, which tells of NECIA, the chief's daughter, who volunteered to sacrifice her life by floating over Niagara to break a famine.

Again the Great Spirit calls for the sacrifice. LELAWALA, daughter of chief WOKOMIS, volunteers. SHUNGELA, her lover, appears for a second time to sue for the hand of Lelawala and is again rejected. Burning with hurt pride, Shungela kidnaps Lelawala and MABEL. Their escape is effected by EAGLE EYE, and their return is celebrated with singing and dancing. Joy is dampened when MARPEETOPAH brings news that the sacrifice is required. In Act III as Lelawala is about to enter her flower-decked canoe, a new message comes from the Spirit-of-Waters sparing Lelawala to Wokomis. Lelawala is wedded to SOWANAS and all ends happily.

Football '27

Coach Johnnie Floyd, who had charge of the Trojan team for the past two years, accepted a coaching position at Vanderbilt last year after having made a wonderful record here and Coach Wilson Collins was made his successor.

When Coach Collins issued the first call for candidates, sixty men answered his call. Of these, eleven had made their letters on past grid teams. One of the finest football machines in the state was soon perfected by Coach Collins and, although we lost three games out of the nine played, we are proud of the record, since our team was continuously visited by the old dame, Bad Luck.

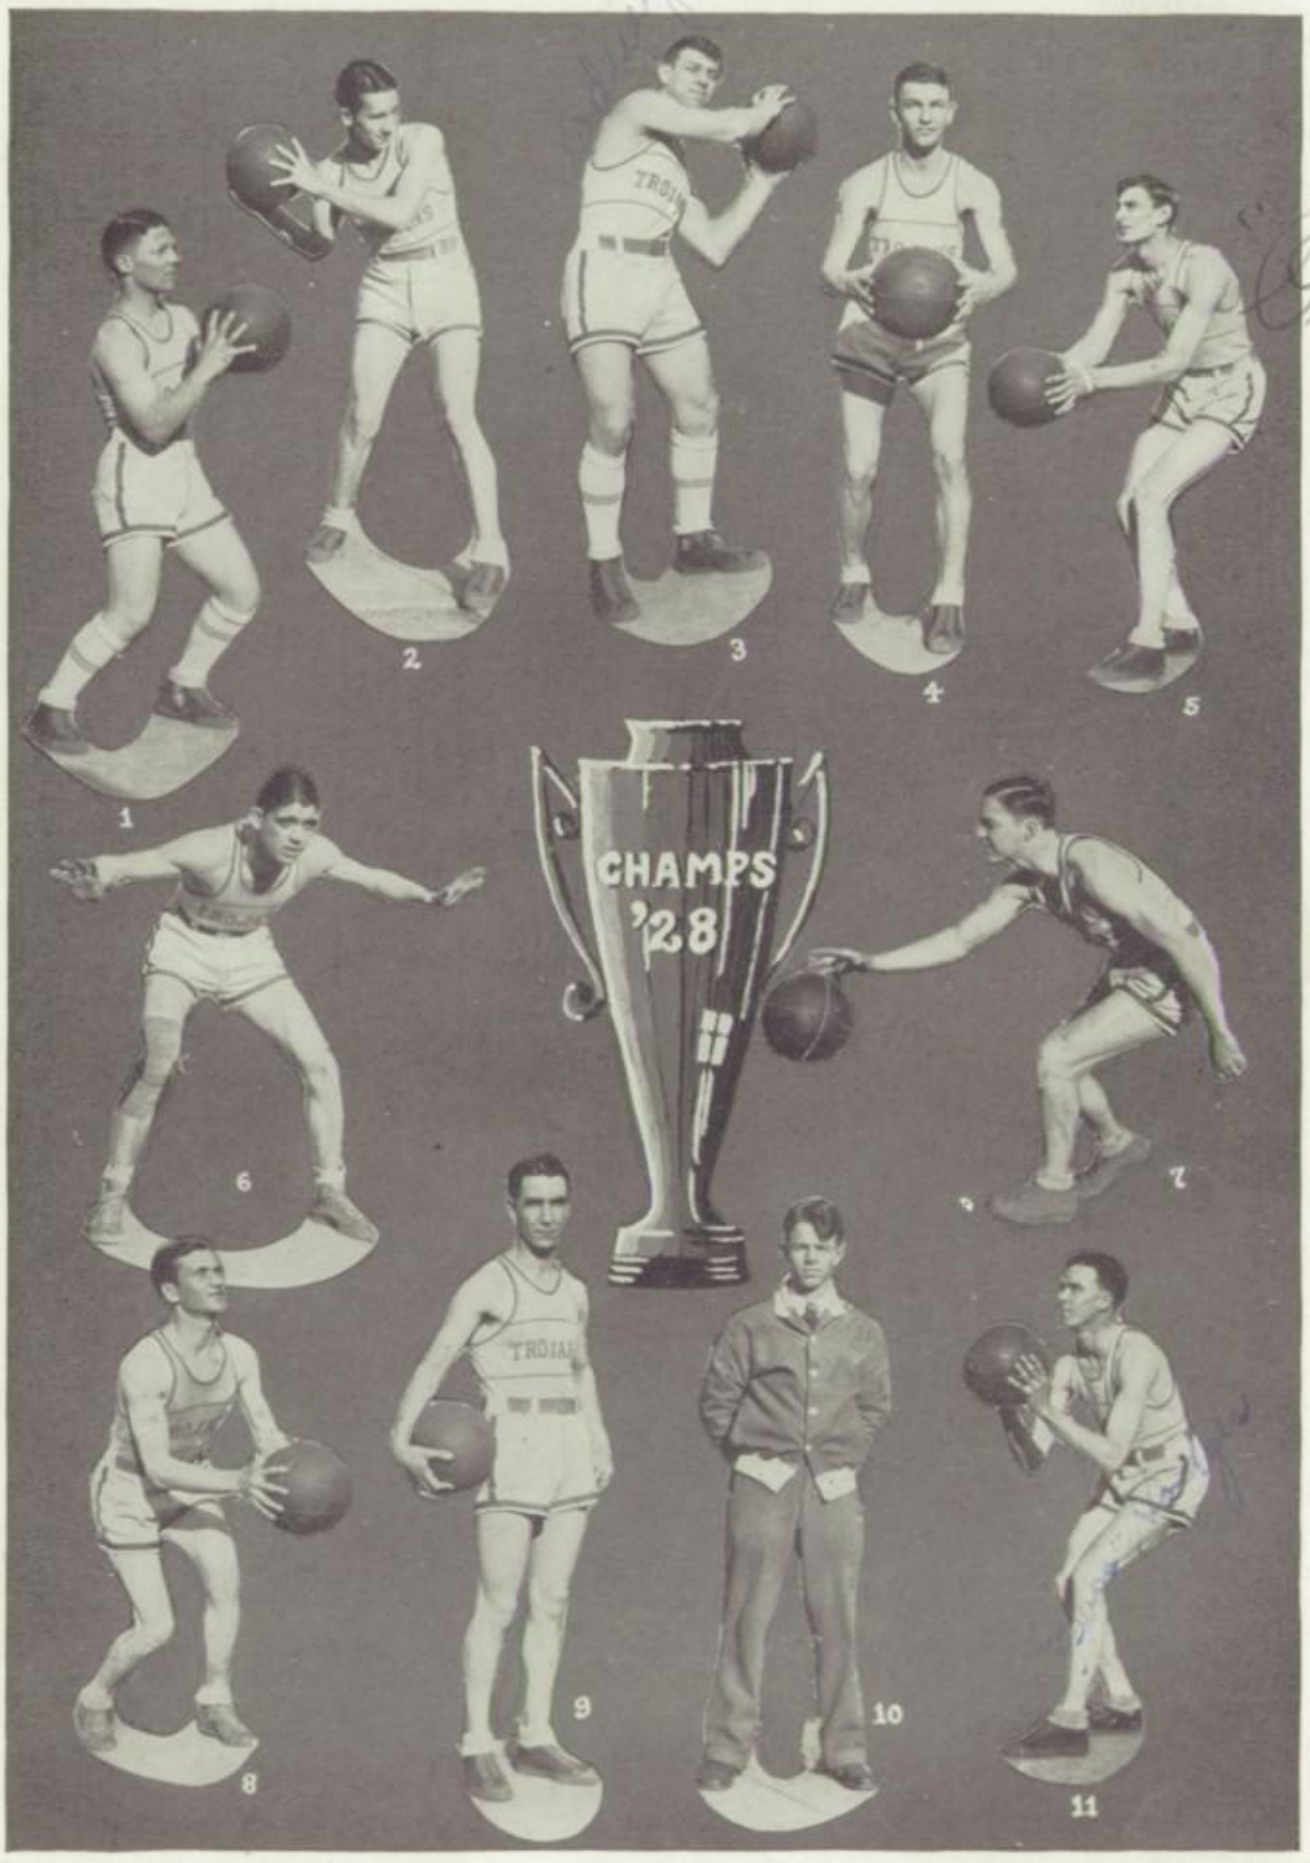
Passes, passes, passes. It seemed as though every team was a past master in the business, for of nine touchdowns scored against us, eight of them were scored on passes.

The record of the season follows:

Knoxville High	32	Sevierville	0
Knoxville High	25	Maryville	6
Knoxville High	20	Polk County	0
Knoxville High	13	Bradley County	20
Knoxville High	57	T. M. I.	6
Knoxville High	26	Baylor	0
Knoxville High	7	City High of Chattanooga	14
Knoxville High	19	McCallie	0
Knoxville High	6	Central	13

All in all, Knoxville High scored 205 points against 59 by their opponents during the season. Captain Roy Conner, center; Bill Collins, tackle; Bill Poe, fullback; Howard Connelly, guard; were placed on the All City team. Captain Roy Conner, known throughout the South as the dean of High School Centers, completed a most enviable record with the close of the season and cannot be given too much mention. Space prohibits the mentioning of all the stars who have brought fame to High School.

Twenty men were awarded letters at the close of the season and Howard Connelly was elected Captain for the '28 eleven, with Bill Poe as alternate Captain.



(1) Ollie Hale; (2) Clarence Sharp; (3) Rodney Napier; (4) Polk Crumbliss; (5) LeClaire Greenblott; (6) John Collins; (7) Claude Reeder; (8) Ralph McAmis; (9) Captain Ernest O'Conner; (10) Manager Robert Brandau; (11) "Puss" Hodge.

Basketball '28

Opening the season with a new Gym and a new coach the Trojans went through one of the most successful schedules in years. Twenty-one games were played and 19 of them were won, including all on their regular schedule.

The Trojans participated in the Cotton States Tournament at Auburn, Alabama, and reached the semi-final round before losing to Vienna. They returned home for four games and with only one day of practice left for Nashville to enter the State Tournament. Here they won the record for high team scoring. They were defeated in the last round of the tournament by 2 points, and two Trojans were placed on the All-Tournament team. By a vote from the coaches of all teams entered in the tournament, the Trojans were given the sportsmanship trophy which was the largest trophy offercd.

Captain Mike O'Connor was placed on the All-Tournament team in all three tournaments. while "Puss" Hodge won the same honor in the East Tennessee and state affairs.

Baseball '27-'28

The 1927 baseball team won the East Tennessee Championship by taking 15 games, straight. Many strong teams such as Bradley County, Central of Knoxville, T. M. I., Morristown, Maryville High and Bristol High fell before their onslaught. In winning four straight games from Bradley County, Coach Collins and his boys accomplished something that a Trojan team had never accomplished before. The feature game of the season was the 32 to 9 victory over Central High.

"Puss" Hodge was elected Captain of this year's team and Billie Rule, Manager. Prospects are good for the season as most all lettermen returned.

Track

The Trojans set the pace in the South for track and field artists last season. They won the Tri-State meet at Lincoln Memorial University, the Tennessee State meet at the University of Tennessee, and the Southern meet at Sewanee.

To win the L. M. U. meet, Knoxville High carried off eight places, three seconds and seven thirds for a total of 70 points. Captain Andes was the high scorer of the meet, winning 15 points. He took first place in the 100 yard dash, 220 yard dash, and the broad jump. Martin McNamara set a record for this meet when he tossed the shot 44 feet, nine inches. The Trojans closest rival was Morristown High, who had 35 points.

In the A-1 division of the Tennessee meet, the Trojans amassed a total of 51 points to win over Asheville School for Boys, who were their closest competitors with 46½ points. Lobetti set a new record in the high jump when he crossed the bar at 5 feet, 11¾ inches. This is ¼ of an inch better than the Southern Conference record.

Carl Benton threw the javelin 161 feet, nine inches, in the Southern meet. This was a new record and one which will likely stand for some time. Knoxville High collected a total of 34 points in this meet to lead Tech. High of Atlanta, who had 30 points.

Prospects for the '28 team are good and from the looks of things, as the Voice goes to press, it seems that Knoxville High will have another winning team.

SCHOOL SONG

For, when those Knoxville fellows fall in line,
We're going to win that game another time—
For, when we give our yell, we'll yell, and yell,
For Knoxville High we'll yell, and yell, and yell, and yell,
And then we'll fight, fight, fight for every yard—
We'll send our backs against that line right hard—
Oh, yes, we'll roll old.....on the sod, on the sod,
Knoxville High!

Girls' Basketball '27-'28

With a team composed of the smallest girls ever to play under the Blue and White, the 1928 Trojanettes finished their season with seven victories against 3 defeats.

Opening the season with a 25 to 7 victory over Youngs High the girls met and defeated such teams as Walland, Youngs, Maryville, Karnes, and Lenoir City.

The Trojanettes entered only one tournament, the East Tennessee. In their first game they defeated Vonore High and Evelyn Petree, scoring 24 points, was later awarded a cup for this mark.

Evelyn Petree led the scoring for the season with 161 points. Jean McKinney was second with 71, while Sadie Dender ranked third with 47.

Gym Classes

The above picture affords an excellent view of the interior of one of the rooms in the new gymnasium and gives one an idea of its spaciousness, light, and ventilation. A girls' class in calisthenics may be seen on the floor in gymnastic uniforms. These classes, of which there are a number, are under the able direction of Miss Mary House. Students here are thoroughly trained in proper athletic exercises and recreation as well as in dancing and other things that make the body beautiful and strong.

MR. WAYNE LONGMIRE

Mr. Longmire cannot be given too much praise for his untiring efforts and for the long hours he spends in directing the athletic events in all sports and handling the finances of these events. He has always been most efficient and successful with his end of the business and the school appreciates his services.

ELVIN BUTCHER

At the right is a picture of Elvin Butcher, Tennessee gridiron star, and graduate of Knoxville High School. During the past year he was honored by being placed on the All-Southern team and was mentioned by some authorities as being eligible for All-American.

DOMESTICALLY TRUE

IN FLANDERS FIELDS

In Flanders fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place; and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing, fly
Scarce heard amid the guns below.

We are the dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow.
Loved and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe:
To you from falling hands we throw
The torch; be yours to hold it high.
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders fields.

—Lieutenant Colonel John McCrae

THE ANSWER

We grab the torch to hold it high
Forever; and if need be die
Like you who sleep in Flanders fields—
Like you whose lives are safely sealed,
Whose souls have gone beyond the sky.

We are the Youth, the Nation's best;
With strength and courage we are blessed.
We will take up your quarrel now
In Flanders fields.

And once again the larks may fly
In sunset glow, in peaceful sky,
And bear the message up above
That we've kept faith with those we love;
And you may sleep where poppies grow
In Flanders fields.

—Major Harry W. Stephenson

ORGANIZATIONS

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

The National Honor Society

The National Honor Society is one of the four honorary organizations of Knoxville High School, members of which are chosen by a council of teachers, from among the upper third in scholarship of those of the class to which they belong. Only fifteen percent of the graduating class may belong to the Honor Society.

The society offers a "Key" to the boy and the girl of the Senior Class who have made the highest grades in their high school careers. To further advance scholarship and to help every Senior graduate, the members of the Honor Society conducted a study hall this fall, coaching pupils in their studies for several weeks.

In 1927, the Honor Society printed for the first time a school handbook which has been revised and republished this year by a volunteer staff from the organization. This offers its members a chance to become members of the Quill and Scroll, the writers' honorary organization of the school.

As an Usher Squad the Honor Society affiliates with the Student Cooperative Government.

The Alumni of the Honor Society are organized, with a constitution and officers. They have a banquet once each year, after the mid-term, at which time they conduct all business, which consists chiefly in aiding the active chapter in anything it has undertaken.

MISS AIKEN, Faculty Advisor

The Spanish Club has had a number of very interesting meetings under the direction of Miss Aiken. It is the purpose of this organization, of course, to interest the students in the study of the Spanish language and to create efficiency in its use. The French Club and the Spanish Club have met several times during the year and exchanged ideas.

MR. PAUL FARMER, Faculty Advisor

The Debating Club has had, under the direction of Mr. Farmer, a most successful year. It is the purpose of this club to train students to speak well before an audience and to be able to think on their feet. A debating team has been selected to represent the club. An oratorical contest was sponsored. Miss Katherine Bolt won the medal awarded each year when she spoke before the student body on the subject of WAR.

Maskers Club

The Maskers Club is composed of those students who are talented in dramatics. During the year the club was very active. They gave two plays: "Captain Applejack" and "The Taming of the Shrew."

Commercial Club

The Commercial Club was organized five years ago for the benefit of pupils in the Commercial Course. The aims of the club are: Educational—offering possibilities for acquiring valuable knowledge of business and its requirements by having business men make talks along these lines; by having student programs consisting of debates, plays, papers, and talks from assigned subjects. Inspirational—furnishing new ideals of service; stimulating and encouraging effort towards their realizations. Social—enabling members and sponsor to mingle freely by means of social activities such as contests, parties, picnics, etc.

Chorus

The boys and girls Glee Clubs are composed of that group of High School students most talented in music.

During the year, a Vesper Service was given at the Central Methodist Church. This was the first entertainment of this kind ever attempted by the Chorus, but it was well attended and enjoyed by a large audience. Lelawala, an Indian Operetta, was given by the Chorus in March. The Chorus is composed of both the boys and girls Glee Clubs.

WEEKLY

The Blue and White

The "Blue and White" staff has suffered a number of losses during this year from illness, graduation of its members, and from other causes. Charles Edwards, who was editor-in-chief at the beginning of the year, was forced to resign on account of illness. Jack Walker, who was associate editor, was forced to resign for business reasons. Reid Ford, Margaret Kincaid, and Arpie Spencer were graduated in January. Despite these misfortunes the year has been a successful one and the most harmonious of any during the six years the "Blue and White" has been published.

THE VOICE

The Voice

The entire VOICE staff has worked well on this book, the thirtieth edition of the VOICE. In this work, however, a few have been outstanding, and I think that it would be not at all out of place to commend them here for their work. Among those who deserve special commendation are: William Pollard, for his faithful and untiring work on the business end of the publication; Anne Brakebill, for her work on the advertisements and because she has been the best kodak editor the Voice has ever known, and Voreta Sharpe for her stenographic work. Without the efforts of these, the book could not have attained whatever it may have attained in presenting the record of this year at Knoxville High School.

HANDBOOK

The Handbook

The Handbook is a convenient sized book, containing information concerning Knoxville High School, which anyone, student or parent, might wish to know. It was first published in 1927 by all members of the Honor Society. However, the 1928 edition of the Handbook was published by a volunteer staff from the Honor Society. Every member of the staff has worked well and the book is a very great success.

Quill and Scroll

Quill and Scroll, the national honorary society for high school journalists, now numbers nearly three hundred chapters. These are located in nearly every state in the Union and represent most of the high schools in the country which are outstanding in the quality of their journalistic work. Four thousand of the ablest young journalists in America wear the badge of the society.

Organized at Iowa City, April 10, 1926, by a group of high school supervisors for the purpose of encouraging and rewarding individual achievement in journalism and in allied fields of creative work, the society has already accomplished much.

The requirements for membership in the society are outstanding work in editing, writing, or business management.

In the Knoxville High School chapter, there are representatives from each of the three publications: "The Voice", "The Handbook", and "The Blue and White."

In spite of the fact that this is the first year there has been a chapter at Knoxville High School, the chapter is fully organized and has an impressive ritual. The pin of the organization is in the form of scroll emblazoned with a quill pen.

The Spirit of Modern Youth

We, the Youth of America,
To whom, from down the ages,
The flaming torch of Life
Has been passed—
In whom lies the hope of our nation
And the fate of future generations—
We are firmly bound together by a common creed:
We believe in Bodily Vigor, for strength is the secret of power
And power is the foundation of all things.
We believe in Knowledge, for knowledge is growth.
We believe in Our Country,
In her standards,
In her laws and heroes,
And in the splendid principles for which she stands.
We believe in our homes for
They are the birthplace of our Great Race.
We believe in Labor, for without it
Our dreams are empty bubbles.
We believe in Truth, for which
Our men have fought and died
And made a way with bleeding bodies
For us to cross.
We believe in God.
God, who gave us these ideals—
Help us to live true to them!

—Francis Eisenberg

The Potency of the Printed Word

"A word fitly spoken is like apples of gold in pictures of silver." But a word aptly written is like the fruit of truth in a world-wide garden.

This printed word flourishes by the wayside, on stony places, among thorns, and in good ground. Its scope is universal, its potency is immeasurable. From its beginning, it has wielded an enormous influence, has exerted an indisputable sway. At the very first, the printed word possessed a magnetic attraction for those who understood, and a still greater allure for those who did not understand. And that fascinating, illimitable potency has increased vastly. Dating from its origin in 50 B. C. in China, the printed word has come to develop more conclusions, reiterate more arguments, establish more statements, and solve more political, economic, religious and social problems than all other forces.

And the printed word not only has been the greatest scepter of influence, but it has been the greatest generator of inspiration. Elbert Hubbard's famous "Message to Garcia" would never have stirred forty millions of people had its dynamic force not been crystallized into the potency of the printed word. The wonderous Sermon on the Mount was spoken to an audience of less than five thousand. And it would have stopped there. But through its medium, it has become a source of strength to millions. The animating words "Give me liberty or give me death", were delivered by Patrick Henry before a few hundred statesmen, and would have been lost to posterity, had they not been printed, thus thrilling innumerable patriots living today.

Today, more than ever, the printed word is a power to be taken inevitable into account. It is subconsciously accepted as authority on any subject, and on any occasion. The printed word forces itself on the attention where speech and script are alike politely tolerated, disagreed with, or ignored. The printed word is a power of intellect, an axis of opinions, and like all such decisive influences, may be utilized for destructive or constructive purposes. But whether for good or for evil, it is undeniably an influence. Where the spoken word is ineffective, or at least inspiring only to those within hearing, and only at the time when spoken, the printed word is of eternal and infinite potency. The silver tongue of the orator has never heated hearts as has the impelling product of cold type. The speaker's rosy hued words are never so impressive when transferred to print. The spoken word is a sounding brass and a tinkling cymbal when compared to the power of printers ink—a power so great that its effect can only be counteracted by another printed word, more beautifully expressed, more expertly phrased—a power so great that the printed word has been and remains the most potent of man made influences.

—Jo Ruth Perry

THE VOICE

YOUTH

He is a debonair fellow—youth,
Wearing a gay coat with a lining of Silken scarlet, carrying the bright and spangled
Banner of life, so gallantly.
Dancing, with light, swift feet, on
The road to Adventure, asking only
The courage to follow.
Not wishing to know how the last chapter ends,
But to wander on.....
Wide-eyed—continually surprised by Life.
Believing in Laughter; if youth is life—
Why not make it a
Blur of blossoms?—
Exulting that he knows not—nor cares for—
The troubles age can bring.
A Singer of Songs—even the swift brush
Of Sadness—can not still the carnival
Spirit in him, for he is a
Harlequin Soul!
He believes in Love, for do not
Youth and Love drift
Hand in Hand.....among the stars?
He hears the whisper as well as the Shout of it.....
Thankful for his candle-lit dreams
And rose-dawn illusions.....
Believing in work, for has not
Youth the dreams of
Mighty empires in his heart?
Taking life gladly—with eager
Hands and finding it sweet.
May he never grow old
In regret:
When whispering twilight falls against
The skies—
May it come from a land
Of crimson sunsets, where
Loveliness never.....dies.

—Bonnie Jo DeLozier

I WOULD TREAD LIGHTLY

I would tread lightly
To where you lie.....
Then as quietly,
Steal by.....
I would so reverently tread,
Here in this sacred place—
Touch, softly, your dark head,
Watch the candle-light play on your face.

Somewhere.....I know—
Your gay, courageous soul
Is marching to new music; to the glow
Of a higher, shining goal.
Perhaps.....you are glad to lie here,
In this lovely, shadowy place.
Somehow, I know you would not wish a tear,
But a smile upon my face.

Yet—will I tread lightly
To where you lie.....
And then, just as quietly,
I'll steal by.....

—Bonnie Jo DeLozier

BEAUTY

Cool silver of moonlight—
A flaming scarlet poppy—
The lacy black of pines against the sky;
A hazy range of hillsides—
The green-gold of a birch tree—
The wing of a golden butterfly.

The call of a waterfall—
The gurgle of a fountain—
That seems to hold a laugh of secret mirth;
The filmy gray of wood smoke—
And a golden pool of sunlight:
What matters care when Beauty walks the earth?

—Frances Eisenberg

TWILIGHT, DARKNESS AND DAWN

The red and yellow western sky is fading,
The azure eastern sky is turning gray,
The hills grow dim with fastly darkening
shadows;
Then sleep, O Earth! The day has fled away!

'Tis night—the world serene in sleep
reposes—
The nightingales their very souls pour out
And heavy dew drops hang on fragrant roses!
Then sleep, O Earth! The twinkling stars are out!

The clinging draperies of the crescent moon
Drip moon gold on the night-veiled earth below—
The dark blue, starlit heavens shed their star dust—
Then sleep, O Earth! for soon the night will go!

'Tis that dark hour before the Dawn's arrival—
The mocking birds with music fill the air—
The fragrance of the lilacs dim the senses;
O Earth! The dawn is nearly here!

The silver crescent moon is disappearing,
The twinkling stars are fading in the sky—
The eastern vault is turning red and amber—
Awake! O, Earth, 'tis dawn—the morn is nigh!

—Shaba Clapp

GHOSTS

The waves lap listlessly on a shape warped shore
Where barren rocks are shapeless, cold
and gray—
Dead wind echoes make a monotonous roar
Among the sullen, gruesome coves of the bay,
Rousing the ghosts of secrets long since dead.

—Kenneth Russell

WHAT?

What lies beyond the region
That the stars profess to claim?
What lies beyond their lustre;
Is there naught that one could name?

What mysteries are hidden
In the depths beneath the earth?
Who knows to what new things
The future may give birth?

What unknown joys and triumphs
Will we see, e're we return,
(As dust to dust returneth)
To the things of which we'd learn?

—J. R. Booth

WHO KNOWS?

Somehow, Sweetheart, when I first met you,
We had crossed paths before somewhere,
I knew—
Not in this world, perhaps, today,
But centuries ago in a land far away.
Is it possible that aeons and aeons ago,
We lived and loved as today?
Who knows?

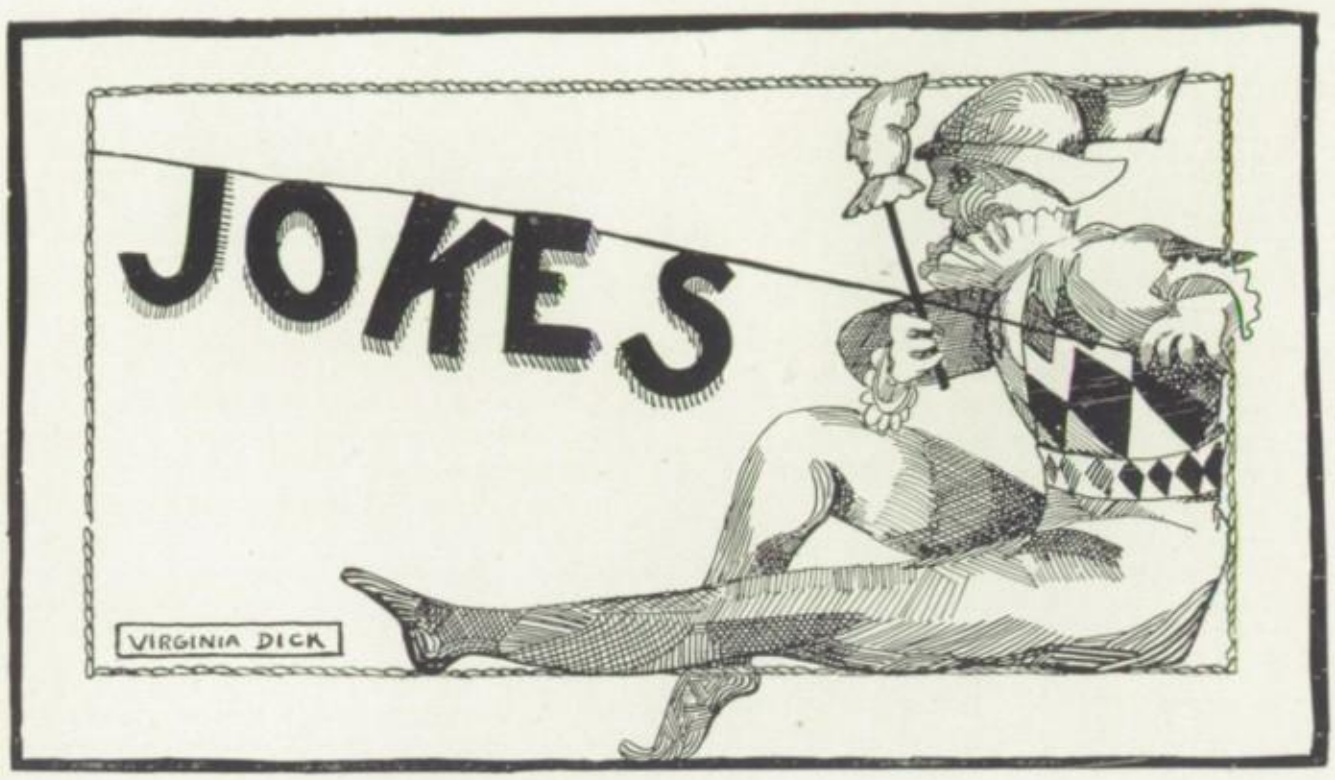
Will our love live on ten thousand years
from now?
Will we meet again in the same spell,
somehow,
And live again in nights of June,
Underneath the same old moon?
After this world has come to a close,
Perhaps, someday———————
Who knows?

—Mary Moses

THANKSGIVING

There's a happy kind o' feelin'
Comes into our hearts a-stealin'
At this magic time o' year—
Kind o' starts the blood a-stirrin'
Sorta sets the pulses purrin'
'Till we feel chock full o' cheer—
And the reason?—
It's the season—
It's because Thanksgiving's near.

—Kenneth Russell



"Quipps and cranks and wanton wiles,
Nods and becks and wreathed smiles."

SONG OF THE SENIORS

When our last exams are over,
And we put our books aside,
And we think of all our teachers
And how much harder we could have tried,
We shall rest, and faith we shall need it,
Rest for a month or two,
Till the faculty of some college or other
Shall put to work anew.

—Mary Moses

BRIGHT MESSENGER

"Willie", said Mrs. McDonald to Willie, "I wish you would run across the street and see how old Mrs. Brown is this morning."

A few minutes later Willie returned and reported:

"Mrs. Brown says it's none of your business how old she is."

"Where's the cow, H.E.", Claxton McClain asked down on the farm last summer.

H. E.: "I can't get her home; she is down by the railroad flirting with the tobacco sign. Guess Si will have to take the sign down."

He: "I'm going to kiss you every time a star falls."

She (ten minutes later): "Say, you must be counting the lightning bugs."

Billy Rule: "Gee, my girl sure is hard to kiss."

Red Gray (absently): "She sure is."

SOME SAINTLY CITIES

A sporty young man in St. Pierre
Had a sweetheart and oft went to Sierre.
She was Gladys by name,
And one time when he came
Her mother said: "Gladys St. Hierre."

A globe-trotting man from St. Paul
Made a trip to Japan in the faul.
One thing he found out
As he rambled about
Was that Japenese ladies are St. Taul.

SEPTEMBER

12 Back in school again—Hello everybody! who's the bewildered little Soph?

13 Ole K. H. S. looks pretty good with all the changes, new curtains in auditorium, two new class rooms, and even a new gym.

14 Say, what is this new six one-hour period system? It's impossible to get anything to eat, things are so jammed in the Lunch Room.

15 First chapel today and C. V. introduced our new Blue and White editor. This is a fine idea of giving us all one of the first issues free.

16 Things are getting started earlier than they formerly have, it seems. All the new cadet-officers are announced today and Kohlhase says that the battalion is getting into real work.

20 We have a great time in group making nominations for Senior directors.

21 Sure to get the old K. H. S. spirit at the pep meetings. It will be hard to pick the best cheer leader from the peppy bunch of try-outs.

22 Big election of Senior directors comes off fine and the representatives are the cream of the class.

23 Whew! School out for fair, also football season opens with Trojans downing Sevierville (30-0).

26 Starting of voice culture in English classes Ya! Ya! Ya!

27 The Honor Society gives the Sophs handbooks today. Banking starts also.

28 Bang! Boom! nobody shooting, only blasting on Lamar Street.

29 News! Pickell elected president of the Senior Class, Mr. Northcutt is again the advisor.

30 Football game and Girl Reserves welcome tea are both this afternoon. We beat Maryville (25-6).

OCTOBER

7 School didn't seem so bad at the parents' night but the jinx must be on the lights around here.

10 The hot campaign is now on between the Blue and White tickets for student council members.

13 J. R. Booth elected president of White ticket.

14 Went to Cleveland to see us beat Bradley, but was disappointed. This didn't prevent a big day, however.

20 It certainly was nice of Mrs. Briscoe to give us a new scoreboard, wasn't it?

21 The Trojans made a comeback over T. M. I. today. That's the way we do it.

25 Gee, but these R. O. T. C. Cadets know how to select a pretty bunch of sponsors.

26 The faculty pulls a surprise party for Miss Rosebud.

27 The Hi-Y boys had "Kitty's Arrival".....and how!

28 Thanks to the E. T. E. A. meeting, we have a holiday. Also, took the opportunity to "beat" Baylor!

NOVEMBER

1 The Officers Club banquet is quite classy.
2 New Voice Staff room is opened.
3 Guess we'll have to call Bill Lea and Bill Pollard the big "ITS" on the Voice Staff.
4 Too tough—Trojans would loose to Chattanooga.
11 Armistice—Parade—Double header game—"High School's Right!" So was County today.
14 Well, if Mr. Hackney didn't get elected Vice-President of the Dixie International Press Association.
15 Come on honor students, coach the flunkers, that's being a good Samaritan.
22 Getting nearer the County game every day.
23 Chapel was a good appetizer for Thanksgiving dinner with all the baskets and good things before our eyes. Sale on Blue and White caps.
24 Victory! Yes, but for the wrong team. We were proud of our players—also the band with their new capes in the formation of K. H. S.
29 Another Officers Club banquet.

DECEMBER

2 Masquer's play, "Captain Applejack", goes over with a BANG.
8 Football banquet—"Fats" Connelly is new captain.
9 So the faculty organizes a gym class. Aren't they just too cute?
12 Special! Abraham Lincoln production for pupils in auditorium.
14 No, school didn't let out early—The Senior rings and pins are here.
15 Speech! Speech! and Captain "Bull" Connor makes it. Football letters are given out.
16 '28 Joyland is a hit.
21 The wearers of the green and gold represent "Class" day not St. Patrick's day.
22 Santa Claus takes the dolls to Pickle school and every one is getting the Christmas spirit. Officers Club banquet. "Merry Christmas to All."

JANUARY

2 Back in school. All struggle to live up to New Year's resolutions.
5 Who knew Bill Collins could sing like he did in chapel. That's what we want to know.
6 Basketeers open season in victory—Boxing between halves—Connelly vs. Poe is a draw.
12 Dick Williams is a darling head waiter at Hi-Y best girl's night.

RINGING THE BELLE!

PASSING FINAL EXAMS.

15 Vesper service by Glee Club.
16 Great number of tardies for looking at the art exhibit in the halls.
17 Some court the Student Council holds in chapel.
20 Maker's of "Quill and Scroll" announced.
23 Stop, look, listen! R. O. T. C. boys direct traffic.
25 Cram! Cram! Here comes final exams.
27 Report cards—but who cares about that?
30 Turn over a new term. Juniors hang the goose high.
31 Class chooses sweet pea flower.

FEBRUARY

2 New election of Hi-Y officers.
3 Hi-Y goats running loose in halls.
17 Big election of "Quill and Scroll" officers.
18 Cotton State Tournament.
20 Spring is here. The flag pole is painted.
21 George Washington is present at the Officers Club banquet.
22 The Senior Class president on crutches today. We wonder if selecting the class song had anything to do with it.
24 Bravo! Anne Brakebill won T. E. C. cup.
27 Spring track practice started.

MARCH

2 Senior Class together for first time.
3 Trojans win E. T. C. Tourney. Basketball season closes. Beat County three times. This avenges football game.
7 Measure up Seniors for caps and gowns.
9 Hurray for the circus day. Those are good looking marksmanship "K's" strutting around.
15 Oratorical contest—Bell Ringer's performance, too.
16 R. O. T. C. Track Meet.
19 Tryout for Senior Class play.
23 Lelawala on the war path.

APRIL

1 All Fool's day.
5 Band concert at Jefferson Hall. We are proud of our band.
7 Holiday—Easter.
12 Organdie dress style show by Senior girls.
13 Seems like the Maskers give better plays all the time.
20 High School enters Big Five contest.

MAY

4 Just for fun the R. O. T. C. gives a show.
7 Baseball season is now open.
24 School gets out early for R. O. T. C. demonstration.
25 Exams are in full sway and High School days are swiftly coming to a close.
27 Baccalaureate sermon.
28 Everybody get dates for class play.
29 Ditto.
30 Publication Banquet.
31 Commencement—(Hail to Thee, Old K. H. S.)

JUNE

1 Senior Class banquet—Goodbye's—
"The song is ended but the melody lingers on."

The picture of both the R.O.T.C. units and the other organizations of the school taken for the Voice this year are the best that have ever been made in the history of the Voice and the school, in my opinion. They are planned better, more clearly reproduced, and have turned out much more plainly than I had hoped for at the best.
